PINK ANGELS
PREOPERATIVE PROGRAM

Preparing for breast surgery can be an overwhelming experience, often accompanied by feelings of anxiety and confusion. At Mather Hospital's Fortunato Breast Health Center, we understand the challenges you may face. That's why we are proud to introduce our Pink Angels Preoperative Program, designed to provide confidential support, guidance, and reassurance during this critical time.

Our experienced integrative nursing team specializes in assisting individuals like you as you prepare for breast surgery. With their extensive knowledge and compassionate approach, they will serve as your dedicated partners, guiding you through every step of your surgical journey.

Our dedicated breast team:

▪ Compassionate emotional support:

We understand the emotional toll that breast surgery can take. Our team is here to provide compassionate support, helping to alleviate stress and anxiety.

▪ Expert answers and calming presence:

We know you may have many questions and concerns. Our team is here to provide clear, reassuring answers, offering a calming presence to ease your worries.

▪ Personalized guidance, education, and support:

Every individual's journey is unique. That's why we offer personalized guidance, education, and support tailored to your specific needs.

Our services include:

- Acupuncture
- Meditation
- Reiki
- Aromatherapy

With the support of our integrative nursing team, you will gain valuable insights into self-care practices and receive tools to manage stress and promote recovery.
